

Curriculum Vitae

Sumit K Chatterjee was born on 27th February 1975 in Varanasi, Utter Pradesh, India. He has completed his Master of Science in Physics from Banaras Hindu University in the year 1996. In the year 1999, he obtained his Master of Technology degree in Microwaves Engineering from Burdwan University, Burdwan. He joined the PhD program in the department of Electronics and Electrical Communication Engineering of Indian Institute of Technology, Kharagpur in January, 2007 and continued as a research scholar till January 2011. His research interests include VLSI design, video compression architectures and digital systems. At present, he is working as a Senior Lecturer at Asansol Engineering College, Asansol.