

Abstracts

This chapter contains an up-to-date literature survey of semiempirical all-valence-electron molecular orbital calculations based on NDO (neglect of differential overlap)-type approximations, and describes the motivation of the present investigation.